ON BEING UNDERSTOOD. . . .

A speaker at a convention recently ended his talk on the "Usage of Words. . ." with this anecdote he said was overheard in a hardware store:

"Do you have any four-volt, two-watt bulbs?"

"For what?"

"No, two."

"Two what?"

"Yes."

"No."

To paraphrase Will Rogers: "I have never met a man I could not respect and I have never met a man who did not want to hold his head a little higher."

A DREAM WALKING

Hate is not only a waste of time and energy, it's unAmerican. We of the hopeful nation, despite everything, are supposed to be slow to anger and quick to cool. We are supposed to be enthusiastic, realistic, courageous, idealistic and willing to learn.

We are only 200 million among 4 billion. We have contributed more solutions to more problems which require more solutions which lead to more problems in the 20th century than any modern nation.

We are capable of enormous verve. And we are capable of regenerating our energies because it's better than the alternatives.

We see nothing ahead that is any more insurmountable than what we have passed through. The difference is what's ahead is not only here and there, but beyond.

What's in the blood and what's in the head and heart count, but what's done is what really counts.

We, the Americans of so many former places, are a dream walking.

Museum Expert To Advise On County Project

The county museum committee of the Milam County Historical Commission is awaiting advice from an expert on the proposed county museum and is seeking grants at this time.

The county museum will be housed in the old Milam County Jail.

Mrs. Kay Green, spokesman for the committee, said the committee is awaiting advice from Ms. Cindy Sherrell, state museum consultant, who is now in Europe. When she returns she will come to Cameron, survey the site, and give information on needs and approximate cost to repair the building and also give guidelines on exhibits.

Mrs. Green said grants are being sought and the Alcoa Foundation has expressed an interest in the project.

Green Thumb workers have been cleaning the interior of the old jail and also the grounds.

Youth Dies In Wreck

JAIL SCENE will be converted to a county museum, hopefully, by the Milam County Historical Commission. County Judge O. B. Harden shows space within the cell block which might be used to house and protect museum displays.

Gause Boy Pinned By Two Vehicles

A 10-year-old Gause boy, Marshal Davis Brown Jr., was pronounced dead at the scene of a two-vehicle accident two miles east of Gause on Highway 79 and 190 around 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The boy was pinned under the wreckage of a car and truck, according to Highway Patrolman Don Wardlaw.

A car driven by the dead youth's father, Marshal Brown Sr. was attempting a left hand turn off the highway onto a county road when his car was struck from the rear and the left side by a truck driven by Steven Paul Reynolds, 21, of Bryan.

Wardlaw said the truck landed on top of the car in a ditch after impact.

No other injuries were reported although Reynolds was hospitalized at St. Edward Hospital in Cameron for shock.

Passengers in the Brown car included Mrs. Brown and three other children.

Justice of the Peace Jim Swanzy of Milano pronounced the youth dead. His body was taken to Hodges Funeral Home in Hearne.

'For Clear Understanding'

Farm Bureau Asks County Audit

Directors of the Milam County Farm Bureau are calling for an audit of county finances in order to have a clear understanding of the present financial situation before making recommendations for improved law enforcement in the county.

H. M. Yager, president of the county organization, read a letter of request to county commissioners at their Monday morning meeting. No action was taken as the item was not listed on the meeting's agenda. It will be placed on the agenda for Thursday's meeting.

The letter read, in part:

"THE MILAM COUNTY Farm Bureau in their effort to seek ways of halting the increasing amount of burglargy and theft occuring in the rural areas of the county has, as you know, been trying to comprehend the structure and problems of law enforcement in the county. We are evaluating what we have learned and do feel that there are areas where specific suggestions for improvement will be made.

"However to be fully responsible in our effort we feel that a clear understanding of the present financial situation of the county must be attained before any suggestions are offered. . .

"However due to the complexity of the accounting procedures of the county. . . a confidently clear understanding of the county's financial position has been difficult to obtain with reasonable efforts. Therefore we request that a certified public accounting firm be employed to audit the county's finances. As you know this is an accepted periodic practice of most all public institutions and certainly does not cast any suspicion upon anyone -- in fact in Milam County's case it will very likely point out the extreme responsibility with which our county leaders have managed our county business.

"WE HAVE GIVEN much consideration to this request and cannot see any way that authorizing this audit will result in any criticism for any county officials. We understand that the Cameron Independent School system's annual audit cost less than $1,800 this past year and their budget is about twice that of the county. Therefore we think that the cost of an audit will be incidental in the light of a budget of right at $730,000 and the confidence that it will build among county citizens. We respectfully urge you to act with haste on this matter."

Yager emphasized that the Bureau is "not casting a suspicious finger at anyone," that the public could better understand the county's financial situation as presented in an audit.

Commissioner LaVert McKinney said he could not remember an audit of county finances in the 17 years he has been a commissioner.

FARM BUREAU MEMBER Reeves Brown questioned the county's carryover fund and County Judge O. B. Harden pointed out that this is used by the county each year for expenses. The carryover includes taxes for the past year. Harden also pointed out that the last three years have seen a drop of about $50,000 in the total carryover funds.

Harden also said that county taxes alone could not take care of expenses and additional funds are taken in by the district clerk, sheriff, justices of the peace, county clerk, and others.

Judge Harden said he feels certain that people want a reappraisal of county land to be put on the tax roll as it should be. This would give the county "lots more money," Harden said. Harden also said he is in favor of an audit.

In other business, commissioners heard Buckholts Mayor Richard Crowe ask for funds for that town's volunteer fire department such as those paid by the county to other Milam cities. This will be put on Thursday's agenda.

They also voted 3-1 to purchase a chair, two desks and a filing cabinet for the county attorney's office. Discussion on this centered upon the county attorney's request for a high-back swivel chair and the necessity for it. First motion to fill the request died for lack of a second and the second motion specified a low-back chair.

FINAL PAYMENT OF $20,456 on the new tax office was discussed with decision to hold back $2,000 until the sign is put up out front, the plaque installed and a water outlet fixed.

Judge Harden reported that he has asked the Criminal Justice Council to provide funds for a county investigator and an adult probation officer. He said the council will make application for the funds, which would include $850 a month for the investigator and $750 for the probation officer.

Commissioners also approved setting the wage for hourly employees at $2.30 an hour and recommended county holidays including New Years Day, Good Friday, July 4, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

A report was read from the Cameron Fire Department showing 36 rural runs for January, ranging from a distance of 2 to 40 miles.

A request from the County School Superintendent to call a county school trustee election was tabled until Thursday.

Five-Year Plan Due For Schools

The Cameron schools will come up with a five-year plan as a result of a self-evaluation program now in progress, according to information given school trustees Monday evening by Supt. Buddy Dulin.

In executive session the board renewed two-year contracts for CISD principals and athletic directors.

Dulin said the school is lacking in some areas as was pointed out by an accreditation report last year from the Texas Education Agency, and these shortcomings will be rectified in the school's plan.

He said all schools in the state will be involved in similar programs.

Dulin said a committee of administration and teachers will come up with recommendations which will be studied by the board of trustees who will then come up with the plan for the coming five years. The plan will be sent to the TEA for evaluation and approval. This will be done every five years to keep the school modernized and up to date.

Supt. Dulin pointed out that not all the improvements will cost money.

THE PLAN IS DUE for completion by June 1, however, the TEA will give an extension of time if needed, he said.

In other business, trustees approved increasing insurance coverage on the school plant by some $803,534 to an approximate value of $3,333,000 after the increase. Premiums will be paid annually instead of every three years as in the past. The coverage plan was presented by L. W. Stroup and Jim Camp, local insurance agents.

John Henderson, who is not seeking re-election as a trustee, reminded board members that the overall renovation plan for the schools should be updated periodically. Work is planned for the library, media center, painting of old buildings, and finishing the interior of the band hall.

Board approved plans for work on the exterior of Ada Henderson School, including cleaning and silicone treatment of stone trim, repointing bricks, and checking mortar in the joints of the bricks. Cost is estimated at about $2,300.

Board also considered purchase of the old Carey Lumber Co. building which is deemed suitable for a bus barn and storage area.

SUPT. DULIN TOLD trustees that by March 1 a policy of reduced lunch prices for eligible students must be adopted. The school already has a free lunch program. Dulin said a maximum charge of 20 cents per lunch is the most the school will be able to charge for the reduced lunch. Details of the new program will be made public within the next few weeks.

Trustees voted to buy new venetian blinds for the new science labs in the gym and voted to grant permission for a sewer line to be installed along the side of some school property.

Frank Luecke, Cameron Herald editor-publisher, appeared before the board and asked if the basketball goals could be removed on the east tennis court on Yoe Campus as a safety measure. It was decided that Dulin and the coaches will study the feasibility of placing the goals on the west side of the gym wall, with paving to be installed.

THE BOARD THEN went into executive session to review contracts of principals and the athletic director.

Decision was to renew all contracts for two years, and give the following raises: Athletic Director Ed Cauley, $300 a year; Yoe Principal Jack Chubb, $300 a year; and Ada Henderson Principal Bob Martin and O. J. Thomas Principal Bill Huffman each $200 a year.

Meeting To Air Procedures For Foster Child Care

All persons in the Cameron-Rockdale area who are interested in offering foster child care in their homes are asked to attend a meeting Sunday, February 15 at 2:30 p.m. at the Methodist Fellowship Hall in Cameron.

A representative of the Waco State Home for Children will speak at the meeting, which is onsored by the Cameron Area Ministerial Association.

The representative will answer all questions concerning foster child care and will outline procedures that are followed in placing foster children.

Rev. Darryl Proffit, president of the Association, said the State Home would like to have a minimum of two foster homes in the area.

Alcoa Plant Marks Highest Safety Record

Employees at Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works Friday celebrated two million hours worked without a disabling injury. The date marked the plant's second highest safety record ever attained.

After suffering two lost-time mishaps through the first five months of 1975, employees completed 261 days without a disabling accident, according to Fred P. Bergeron, Alcoa's Texas area manager.

"We're extremely pleased with this major mark in our safety history. It wouldn't have been possible without the dedicated efforts of every Alcoan," Bergeron said.

The current safety performance began May 22, 1975. The record 2.8 million hours or 417 days was recorded between October 1966 and January 1968. The Central Texas plant tallies nearly 8,000 hours every work day.

Voters Approve Bond Issue For Buckholts

Construction of a sewer system for Buckholts will follow the approval of $320,000 in bonds voted by Buckholts residents Saturday.

A total of 117 votes was cast in the election, which had two propositions on the ballot. The first, for $64,000 in tax bonds, carried by a 105-11 vote and the second, for $256,000 in revenue bonds, carried by 108-9.

Construction could begin in June, according to Buckholts Mayor Richard Crowe.

"I am very pleased that it passed by such a large majority," said Crowe, noting that the measure carried by a 10-1 margin.

Mayor Crowe said that he did not foresee any rise in taxes as a result of the proposed improvements. He anticipates paying for the project with water and sewer revenue.

Yoemen Wrap District Play

The Cameron Yoemen wrapped up District 23-AA play by defeating Elgin 68-49 Tuesday night.

The Yoemen remain untouched in district play on a 13-0 record. The Yoemen have one game remaining against Hearne Friday night to end district play.

Jafus White and David Kornegay led the scoring Tuesday night with 17 points each. Kenneth Scott hit 14 points and hauled 16 rebounds.

Hill Ruling Not Costly For Cameron Schools

The October 1 opinion of Attorney General John Hill concerning payment of fees and tuition by students as being unconstitutional has not cost the Cameron school district near as much as it has some other schools in the state.

And Rep. Dan Kubiak, along with other state representatives and senators, is requesting the State Board of Education to reconsider the action taken by the Board and the Commissioner of Education as a result of the ruling.

Cameron School Supt. Buddy Dulin said the ruling has not cost the district much money as most of the fees charged students for workbooks and such were collected in September before the ruling was made.

Only other charge to students will be for drivers education, but Dulin said since Cameron will teach this in the summer, the fee can be collected from the students. Schools which have drivers ed as part of their curriculum must foot the bills for it.

Supt. Dulin said the Cameron schools do not have near as many fees as some other schools and he figures it will cost less than $1,000 for the remainder of the school year.

Supt. Dulin said the State Board met recently and voted 12-8 to leave the situation like it is, despite reports that it is working hardships on some school budgets.

He said Dr. M. L. Brockette, Commissioner of Education, had asked Hill for the ruling 18 months before it was given, in order to include the fee costs in the state education financial package. However, the ruling did not come in time and instead of helping school districts it has had the opposite effect.

Rep. Kubiak, in a letter to Brockette, asked that he and members of the State Board reconsider the "drastic action recently taken by the State Board and yourself" as a result of the October first opinion by Hill.

Kubiak stated that "severe penalties have resulted between 25 to 50 million dollars which have been imposed on already financially strapped districts in the state." He said that more than 87 percent of the districts will have to either curtail vital educational programs or scrap them completely.

"I wholeheartedly support the recent stand taken by some of the board members whereby implementation of the opinion be delayed until September 1, Kubiak wrote. "The districts should at least be allowed to finish this year as they had started for they were given no advance notice of this opinion."

Kubiak said there is no way budgets, which were prepared last spring and early summer, can be adjusted in most districts without imposing additional taxes.

Kubiak said that in the event no final change is made by the board, he will request that the Governor call a short special session to amend the legislation to fund the programs through the Public School finance formula and to appropriate enough money to cover the program funding through fiscal year 1977.

A Connally Write-In?...

Texan John Connally may be sounding the write-in prospects in the New Hampshire Democratic primary February 24.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch notes Richard Viguerie, said to be "one of the country's principal conservative activists," is studying write-in campaign prospects for Connally.

The newspaper also notes William Loeb, publisher of New Hampshire's only statewide daily, is supporting a write-in effort. This is news since Loeb also was reported to be supporting Republican Ronald Reagan in recent weeks.

If Loeb is pulling support from Reagan's GOP primary campaign, it may be because Reagan's $90 billion proposal to reduce the federal budget has stymied his campaign. Reagan is to the right of President Ford, himself a conservative, but more of a pragmatist.

President Ford has recently named Connally to a post on the U. S. Intelligence Advisory Board. Just a couple of weeks ago Texan George Bush was approved as head of the CIA, following the President's pledge to the Senate that he, Bush, would not be a candidate in 1976 for vice-president.

According to UPI, the Post-Disptach early in the week said "the move is aimed at tapping the large pool of undecided voters found in samplings of New Hampshire Democrats and at capitalizing on the failure so far of any candidate to emerge from the large Democratic field with a clear lead."

So Republican Connally who joined the GOP after the 1968 presidential election, may yet draw support from Democrats in the highly volatile New Hampshire primary. It may also be the opening knell for classic political views and the death knell for party labels.

If the effort is well financed, confident John Connally, survivor of assassin's bullets and felony charges, may yet weigh in for the 1976 Presidential Run with the best set of credentials outside of the White House.

Whims Of Change...

Reuters notes an American Freedom Train is traversing the continental U.S. for the next two years, bearing some artifacts and trivia of this country's 200 years.

Everything from constitutional documents and John F. Kennedy's hand-written draft of his inaugural speech and memorabilia even to include a pair of Amelia Earhart's goggles will fill 12 of 22 railcars.

The train will be able to handle 2,000 visitors an hour in metropolitan areas, anticipating perhaps 10 million people going through it by the end of 1976.

One city council was stirred, upon learning some of the contents, to ask the train not to stop because some of the content was "patently ridiculous." It was the council of Milwaukee, Wisc.

Patriotism is not what it used to be, but the City of Washington attracts millions of tourists a year to see similar stuff in museums, government buildings and galleries in the District area. The Smithsonian is filled with these things and the Archives and Library of Congress house original Constitution and Bill of Rights, among other historic documentation of the nation's founding.

It will be interesting to see how an American of suburbs and central cities takes to this rather old-fashioned means of bringing Americana to the people. Railroads aren't the popular means of travel either.

So much has changed since the nation's founding, it is difficult to say what would convince us patriotism is more than a 10-letter word. There are thousands of 10-letter words.

The nation is looking for strengths, for roots in a space age when men float weightlessly in space capsules. Maybe a train of red, white, and blue cars can bring us a little closer to the values of colonial America, a splendid time in history, not only in nationalism here, but self-government everywhere.

It was a sophisticated beginning with a very simple approach: "Freedom or war."

We're not so sure those colonial heroes would themselve s trapse to a train station to see a lot of stuff symbolic of ideas and bloodshed beyond a lot of people these days.

Are Americans too sophisticated for their own reenlightenment? After all, it is still the only revolution enduring two centuries on this globe.

Maybe not, if they could imagine what it would mean today to declare our freedom from the rest of the 3.5 billions only hours away by jet. Like those incredible colonialists a couple of centuries ago, we would not be sure how to do it. But we would just do it.

Perhaps 2 million colonial Americans told the British to give way. France of course was cheering us on.

But so would China if we X'ed Russia, the Arabs, Southeast Asia by declaration. Or so would Russia if China were written off. Europe would cheer us on, in part, at least.

There is, however, no George III underestimating us. Only the obvious forces with nuclear armaments, barrelhead diplomacy, or vast numbers.

The Freedom Train will remind of a simpler day of enormous purpose and courage. The turnout in the next two years may give some indication of what commitment resides in the hearts of cosmopolites, suburbanites, and non-metro Americans winnowed by whims of change.

Candidates Seek Texas Votes

Six Democratic and two Republican candidates for president will be campaigning for Texas votes in the May 1 state preference primary.

Texas' 130-member delegation will be the sixth largest in the nation to the Democratic National Convention July 12 in New York City. The 100-member Republican delegation will be the fifth largest at the Republican Convention August 16 in Kansas City.

Ninety-eight Democratic delegates and 96 Republican delegates will be elected in the one-time-only primary authorized for this presidential year by the 1975 legislature.

Democrats Lloyd Bentsen, George Wallace and Jimmy Carter qualified for the ballot in all 31 Texas senatorial districts.

President Gerald Ford and former California Gov. Ronald Reagan submitted qualifying petitions to get on the Republican ballot in the 24 congressional districts.

Democrats Fred Harris will run in 15 Texas districts, Sargent Shriver in six and Ellen McCormack (anti-abortion campaign leader) in five.

Oil Firms Sued

Atty. Gen. John Hill filed damage suits totalling $1.4 million against Gulf Oil and Phillips Petroleum, alleging violations of state laws against contributing corporate funds to political campaigns.

Hill asked at least $1,050,000 from Gulf and $375,000 from Phillips, as the state's "triple damages" recovery of the amount of the corporate donations. He also asked injunctions against future violations.

Gulf contributions began in 1960, the Phillips contributions in 1964.

Appointments

Gov. Dolph Briscoe named James M. Rose to succeed Harry P. Burleigh as executive director of Texas Water Development Board. At the same time, he announced combining of the Division of planning Coordination (headed by Rose) and the Governor's Budget Office. Charles D. Travis, now budget director, will head the combined office. Appointments are effective February 16.

Briscoe appointed J. Michael Smith of Gilmer as Criminal District attorney for Upshur County replacing Welby K. Parish of Gilmer who resigned.

He named George Wayne Miller of Floydada 110th district judge, succeeding the late L.D. Ratliff of Spur and picked John R. "Randy" Hollums of Floydada to succeed Miller as 110th district attorney.

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals upheld life sentences for two men convicted of killing two Dallas policemen in 1971.

An insurance company cannot rely on an exclusion of commerical vehicles to deny payment of death benefits to survivors of a Navy employee killed in a truck-auto crash, the State Supreme Court held.

A divided Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a Houston woman's robbery conviction because the indictment failed to say who owned stolen property.

The Supreme Court rejected an insurance company's appeal to recover $5,000 it paid owners of a burned house (from parents of an 11-year-old who set the fire).

The high court also affirmed a lower court ruling that a former state securities commissioner must help pay back $50,000 to victims of a Mexican real estate promotion scheme.

Court of Criminal Appeals overturned a Dallas heroin conviction of a man arrested with needle marks on his arm. Police also found 25 packets of the drug in his bedroom closet.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. Hill said accident reports may be considered by the Department of Public Safety in determining whether there is a reasonable probability of a judgment against a driver.

In other recent opinions Hill concluded:

Board of Health Resources members can collect pay only for meetings designed to be attended by all members.

Waller County may build and maintain a medical clinic without submitting the matter to a vote. Money budgeted for major building repairs can be used.

Short Snorts

Texas's $1.3 billion in agricultural exports for 1975 ranked among the top five states.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Everybody knows Federal judges, appointed for life by whoever's President if they happen to be a member of his party, have a lot of power and authority.

If a law is unclear, you get a Federal judge to stop in and tell you what it is, or what it's going to be from then on. If there's some question about say, school bus routes in Boston, a Federal judge can straighten things out, give or take a few thousand kids thi s side of town or the other.

Federal judges, who never have to run for office, can nonetheless tell you how you've got to.

Now I'm not complaining about this, the country needs somebody with authority to speak out and lay down some rule s once in awhile, if more parents had done that with their children it's possible more children would have turned out better than their parents, but there's bound to be a limit to how much power a Federal judge has and I believe I have run across such a case.

When Friday came the first week of the Patty Hearst trail with only a handful of jurors selected out of a panel of 36, the judge told the rest, about 25 of them, to go home for the weekend and instructed them not to "read newspapers, watch television, listen to the radio, or discuss the case."

This may be a case of the law falling apart in the face of human nature. If each of those 25 prospective jurors was a bachelor or an old maid--wait a minute -- I'd better say single woman--living alone, the judge's instructions might work, but if there are lots of other - members of the family living there, somebody's going to be in contempt of court. Furthermore, what do you do if the people in the adjoining apartment have their radio on loud? Spend the weekend with the covers pulled over your head?

I believe if I were a Federal judge I'd rather stick to mapping bus routes in Boston.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Baptists Sending Gautemala Aid

DALLAS

Texas Baptists have responded with money, manpower and materials to help in Guatemala disaster relief.

In the first public Baptist response to the earthquake, leaders of 89 Baptist Student Unions across the state contributed $4,047.24.

The offering was taken Saturday night during the annual Texas Baptist Student Union Leadership Training Conference at Baylor University in Waco, attended by about 2,300 students.

In the aftermath of the Feb. 4 earthquake, the Southern Baptist Convention Foreign Mission Board dispatched a team to assess damage and determine response.

Immediately, $25,000 was made available to buy food and emergency supplies. Another $25,000 has been sent to Guatemala and additional funds will be made available as needed.

At the request of the Foreign Mission Board, Texas Baptists sent three doctors, a paramedic, 102 tents--including two for use as medical facilities--a ton of materials to be used in making medical casts and a four wheel dirve vehicle.

Additional supplies--tents, sleeping bags, money, medical supplies have been sent by other state conventions.

The Texas doctors, who arrived in Guatemala Feb. 7 are Dr. Phil Berry and Dr. George Sibley, both orthopedic surgeons of Dallas, and Dr. Scott Middleton, a general surgeon from Corsicana. The paramedic is Skip Barkley of Dallas.

Other medical personnel has been sent from Central and South American missions.

"We anticipate we will be needing more medical personnel soon," said Dr. James H. Landes, executive director of the 2.2 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas.

"Building crews probably will be needed later. Because of the unprecendented destruction of housing and other buildings, we anticipate the need for crews in the next several months," he added.

Landes has alerted the Texas Baptist Missions Team--including workers in every section of the state--to recruit workers and to obtain donations of material and money.

Texas Baptists are requested to send contributions to aid in relief to Guatemala Disaster Relief, Room 202, Baptist Building, Dallas, Texas 75201.

Texas Taxe$

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin--The greatest boon to city financing in the history of the state came in 1967 when the Texas Legislature gave cities a right to levy a one per cent city sales tax.

We recently pulled figures from our computer showing that the city sales tax revenues have skyrocketed in recent years.

Part of the increase comes from inflation, of course. But mushrooming retail sales indicated by the figures represent a prosperous economic climate also.

For purposes of our study we asked the computer for figures comparing each city's 1975 sales tax revenue with what each of the cities drew during the first full calendar year each city collected the tax.

Only 30 cities of the more than 800 collecting the sales tax in Texas showed decline in revenues. Seven hundred and eighty cities showed increases ranging up to 1,539 per cent.

Rebates to participating cities during the year 1975 totaled $764 million. The figure represents the cities' one per cent city sales tax, less the fees the state charges for handling the distribution.

The state wound up with $1.3 billion from its four per cent sales tax for use in funding various state programs.

Another real benefit to cities is the ease with which the city sales tax is collected. The city's one per cent sales tax is collected at the same time the local merchant collects the four per cent state sales tax.

What it boils down to is a good deal for city government. The merchant acts as tax collector and the state administers the collections and distributes the benefits to the city.

Because of the importance of the sales tax rebates to city budgets we have started a program to send city sales tax dollars back to the cities on a monthly rather than a quarterly basis.

Those sales tax dollars are an important part of city budgeting and the quicker those dollars are made available to the cities the more accurate local officials can be in their budgeting process.

Undoubtedly, without the sales tax, Texas citizens would be paying higher taxes on real estate just to keep the level of city services they desire at a high level.

AMERICAN LIFE

1608: Start Of Glassmaking

The role of industry in forging our nation's history stretches back long before 1776. It began in 1608 with the founding of America's first factory industry, glassmaking.

Barely a year after colonists established the first permanent English settlement in the New World, at Jamestown, Virginia, in 1607, glassmaking was under way beside the James River. Glass production began at Jamestown 13 years before the Mayflower dropped anchor.

Glassmaking was not a whimsical choice, for a first industry but a sound business decision, for several reasons.

The basic ingredients of glass--fine sand, wood ash and lime--were plentiful in Virginia; dense forests also furnished kiln charcoal. And glassmaking has a quick "start-up" time; the glass-house turned out its first wares even before the first maize crop was harvested.

Glassblowers labored under arduous conditions, including Indian raids, bad weather and near-starvation. But in 1609 they shipped America's first exports, containers and windows to England.

Today, America's oldest factory industry accounts for more than $2.5 billion of the gross national product, including billions of glass containers yearly for foods, beverages, medicines and cosmetics.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. What are some of the checks I can make to avoid an error on my income tax return?

A. To insure the prompt processing of your return, you should take the time to check certain items before you mail the return to IRS. Check the accuracy of all your mathematical computations, and make sure you have listed income, deductions, credits and tax items on the correct lines. Be sure you use the correct tax table or tax rate schedule. When you use the peel-off label from the front of your Federal tax return package, make sure that the name and address are correct. Be sure to sign and date the return. Joint returns must have the signatures of both husband and wife. Finally, check to see that all W-2 Forms and supporting documents are attached to your return.

Q. I lived in two different states during 1975. Which state's sales tax should I use when itemizing my deductions?

A. If the states have different sales tax rates, you must determine how much you earned in each state and find the appropriate tax on each amount from the Optional State Sales Tax Tables enclosed in your income tax form package.

Remember that in addition to the sales tax shown in the tables, you may deduct the sales tax paid on the purchase of a boat, airplane, mobile home, car with some exceptions, and materials used to build a new home if you are the contractor. In states where the tax rate on motor vehicles is higher than the general sales tax rate, you may deduct that part of the tax paid equal to the tax imposed at the general sales tax rate.

Q. I did not have to pay income tax last year and I do not think I will make enough to be required to pay this year. Is there any way that I can keep taxes from being withheld from my paycheck?

A. Yes. Any person who had no income tax liability during the preceding year and expects to have no liability this year may apply for an exemption from the Federal withholding tax.

To apply, file a Form W-4E with your employer. The exemption applies only to your Federal income taxes and not to state taxes or social security (FICA) tax.

Q. I found some bills and other papers relating to an addition I built on my house six years ago. Must I still keep these records for tax purposes?

A. You should keep these and any other records of home improvements as long as they are material in determining your tax basis (generally the initial cost of the home plus the cost of improvements) of the original or replacement property.

You will need to be able to determine your tax basis in your house to determine whether you have a gain or loss if you dispose of it by sale, exchange, gift, condemnation or involuntary conversion, to determine the amount of a casualty loss, or to determine the amount of depreciation which may be claimed if the property is converted to business or rental use.

Q. I own a small amount of common stock and the company has just sent me a dividend check. There are many types of dividends with different tax requirements. How should I report mine?

A. Most dividends are ordinary dividends, paid to stockholders from the corporation's earnings and profits. Unless the corporation says otherwise, you may assume that any dividends, whether from common or preferred stock are ordinary dividends.

The money you receive is considered ordinary income, but the first $100 in ordinary dividends is excludable from taxable income. A husband and wife filing either jointly or separately may each exclude up to $100 of ordinary dividends he or she received from qualifying corporations.

Dividends and other distributions of $400 or less can be reported on Form 1040 or Form 1040A. If your dividends exceed $400, you should list them on Schedule B of Form 1040.

For your records, you should prepare a list showing the sources and amounts of the dividends you received during the year, and place a copy of it with a copy of the income tax return.

Q. In December, 1975, I pledged some money to a telethon sponsored by local charities. I am paying in installments which stretch into 1976. Since I made the pledge in December, can I deduct the money on my 1975 income tax return?

A. No. Generally, you may deduct on your 1975 income tax return only that part of the pledge which you have paid before the end of the year. Installments paid in 1976 may be deducted on your 1976 tax return.

Remember, you should keep your cancelled checks, receipts and other documents to show how much you have paid to the charities in 1975.

For Feature Walls. Try Outside Siding

A daring, yet handsome, way to dress up a front hall or living room wall is to install board siding in the same pattern as that on the exterior.

Finishing may be quite different, however, a tinted stain or even a clear liquid plastic or wax to heighten the natural wood tones and facilitate dusting — or no finish at all.

Plan Now For Spring Gardening

The success of a vegetable garden depends largely on the amount of planning that goes into it, says Sam Cotner, a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. And the time to start planning is now.

"The first step in planning a garden," says Cotner, "is selecting a site. Locate the garden in an area that gets plenty of sun and has loose, fertileand well-drained soil. Try to avoid poorly drained areas, rocky ledges, or soil infested with Johnsongrass or other weeds."

The closer the garden is to the house, the easier it will be to check regularly and to bring in vegetables," points out Cotner. "Regular checking is important to detect insect and disease problems and to determine the need for watering. It's also handy to have the garden located near a water outlet."

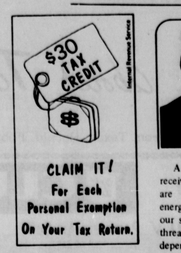
The Texas A&M University System horticulturist recommends a garden size of about 20 feet by 20 feet for an average size family.

"After deciding on the garden's location, select the vegetables you want to plant. The only things limiting the type of vegetables you plant are space and soil conditions," notes Cotner.

The next step in garden-planning is to make a diagram of the garden and prepare an information chart. The chart should tell such things as the kinds of vegetables to be planted, the distance between rows and plants, the amount of fertilizer to be used, the time of planting and any other information that might be helpful.

"Set up goals and deadlines and stick to them," advises Cotner.

Detailed gardening information is available at any county Extension office



The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN---Each day I receive mail from Texans who are being affected by the energy situation. And, it's true, our standard of living is being threatened because it basically depends on cheap and plentiful energy.

We have become accustomed to driving the biggest cars and ofttimes owning two of them. We like our refrigerator-freezers, playing sports at night in artificially lighted areas, air-conditioned homes and the many other conveniences derived from petroleum.

The words "conserve" and "reuse" denote actions Americans find hard to swallow. It has always been easier to "replace" and "dispose."

We have had to re-examine our energy practices and capabilities since the Arab oil embargo. Today many of our people live through the winter with a permanent chill because of high cost of fuel.

Because we use at least six times as much energy per person as citizens of other countries, we must find ways to reduce domestic consumption while at the same time increasing and diversifying domestic energy supplies.

It has become evident that many of our communities will suffer economically if they lack the energy needed to support an industrial base. Competition is increasing for resources as scarcity becomes evident. It could become a question of what use to make of available supplies.

We have to find workable compromises and gain acceptance by Americans of the fact that resources are limited and that energy is not an inexpensive commodity to be wasted. Conservation of our resources must reach to the individual level.

Greater cooperation and coordination is needed among our state agencies and local governments to cope with the conflicting interests and competing demands.

Decisions and actions of the state and local governments must be such as to influence citizens to change their attitudes and priorities about energy.

I think we demonstrated our abilities to react when the Arabs clamped on the embargo. Now, we find, the embargo merely brought things into focus and our problems are much broader then we ever imagined.

As Texans we can climb this mountain and meet this challenge but we all need to start now.

OUR FLAG
Historical Highlights
HOME OF THE BRAVE

Not many Americans, according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserves, are familiar with the third stanza of the Star-Spangled Banner. Here it is.

Oh, thus be it ever
when freemen shall stand,
Between their loved homes
and the war's desolation;
Blest with vict'ry and peace,
may the heav'n-rescued land
Praise the Power that has made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must,
when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto:
"In God is our trust";
And the star-spangled banner
in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

The Scots call a scarecrow a "Potato-bogle!"

BELGRADE

A world-wide pool of national news agennies from developing countries aimed at "decolonizing" and "democratizing" the news has just celebrated its first anniversary with almost double its original members. The venture was launched on Jan. 20 last year by the Yugoslav news agency, Tanjug, in cooperation with 14 other agencies in the Middle East, Africa, Asia, and Latin America, to exchange information which they felt might not otherwise be heard.

Neighboring Algeria dng guerillas of the Polisario Front want independence for the stretch of desert with its population of only 74,000 but Spain has agreed to vacate the colony in favor of Morocco and Mauritania and these two countries are determined to establish their sovereignty over it.

PARIS

France has gone into partnership with Arab banks to challenge American and British supremacy in the management of the fabulous sums of money generated by the oil-rich Middle East. President Valery Giscard d'Estaing's policy of building up Paris as a financial center is slowly gaining ground.

Pearl Still Collecting Used Cans

The Pearl Beer Distributing Company at Cameron collected more than 1.1 million used all aluminum beverage cans and paid over $7,000 to people in this area for cans last year, according to Lee W. Marek Jr., owner.

At the same time, Marek announced that used aluminum cans will be collected this year from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. every Tuesday at his distributorship, 204 E. First St.

"Only empty all-aluminum beverage cans are acceptable for the Pearl program," Marek cautioned. "We can't accept any other type of aluminum, nor any other type of can."

He said that all-aluminum cans are easily identifiable. They are lightweight, easily crushed when empty, and have rounded bottoms, and no side seams.

"But the best way is with a magnet," Marek continued. "If the magnet sticks, it isn't all-aluminum."

Carefree

People smile and turn around to look at them as they run down the street hand in hand. For this moment they are carefree with the exuberance of youth, with seemingly endless tomorrows stretching before them.

But, life being what it is, there comes an end to this sort of thing. Just now they are in love. If they stay in love, if they marry, responsibilities will follow.

If their love subsides, there will be the pain of separation . . . and perhaps a little heartbreak. Whatever happens there will be good times and bad.

Somewhere along the line they will need more than themselves. All of us do! If they have found the Church they will be lucky. Incidentally — have you found the Church?

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

BASS LINE TROUBLE—Many fishermen complain that they have trouble with bass "cutting" their line. This is very unlikely. Most such trouble is due to a weakened front line. A chipped or roughened tip guide may be the cause. Cut off the front end of your line frequently and check your tip guide now and then. Do this and no doubt your trouble will disappear.

STOCKING-FOOT WADERS—For best wear put on light wool socks before slipping on your stocking foot waders. Then wear long heavy ones outside the waders. Do this and you'll have no leak trouble.

CARRYING A LANDING NET—Never use a cord to carry a landing net on your back when stream fishing. Cords can catch on brush and even throw you on occasion. Use of a French snap is far better.

SPORTS

Yoe Cagers Corral Manor Mustangs, 61-43

The Cameron Yoemen corraled the Manor Mustangs in the second period to make certain that they will settle for no less than a tie in District 23AA when they whalloped the Mustangs 61-43 in cage action Friday night at Yoe gym.

Mustangs owned a 10-1 advantage. The Yoemen were only able to connect with 5 field goals of 15 attempts for 33%.

It went sky-high for the Yoemen when an offensive explosion was felt by the Mustangs and all they were able to see were the points clicking on the board for the home team Yoemen.

The Yoemen rallied to a 25 point quarter while holding the Mustangs to a shallow 7 point effort. The Yoemen heated up their field goal percentage with 44% from the field.

In the third stanza the Yoemen held it even for the Mustangs with both teams producing 10 points.

In the final quarter the Yoemen outpaced Manor 16-12. In the third stanza the percentage was a cool 29% followed by a 40% effort in the final stanza.

Jafus White led the scoring attack for the undefeated Yoemen scoring 22 points and hauling down 15 offensive and defensive rebounds.

Michale White hit double figures with 18 and had 6 rebounds and 3 steals to his credit. White was followed by Kenneth Scott with 11 points and 9 rebounds.

David Korengay slammed down 8 big rebounds for the winning effort.

Butch Harding topped the Mustangs with 10 points.

From the free throw line the Yoemen produced 7 points of 15 attempts while the Mustangs gained 5 points of 14 tries.

GirlsTakeConsolation In LexingtonTourney

It was the first tournament ever for the Yoe girls who were able to bring back a Consolation trophy in the Lexington Invitational Tournament which was held Friday and Saturday, Feb. 6-7.

The Yoe girls lost their opening game to Snook and dropped into the losers barcket. In the losers bracket the Yoe girls defeated Somerville and Stephen F. Austin (Bryan) in the consolation game Saturday.

Snook after beating the Yoe girls, went through and defeated Lexington JV and then Dime Box in the championship game to win the first place trophy. The closest game of the entire tournament was against Cameron and Snook in the first round.

In the first game of the tournament the Yoe girls went nip-and-tuck until the final quarter to lose 23-29 to tourney winner Snook.

At the half Snook owned a 2 point lead over the Yoe girls 15-13. In the third quarter the Yoe girls were able to tie it up at 17 points each.

The Yoe girls made 5 turnovers in a row which Snook was able to score on each and build a 10 point lead during the quarter.

The Yoe girls had cut the lead to 6 as the final buzzer sounded.

Evelyn Pittman led the scoring attack with 13, followed by Tullullah Green with 8. Carole Morris and Georgia Wheeler both scored 1.

In the second game of the tournament the Yoe girls faced Somerville. Earlier in the season the girls had deced Somerville, whom they defeated earlier.

The Yoe girls wanted to prove that it was going to be the same story as before and in the first quarter the Yoe girls outpaced Somerville 11-4.

In the second quarter the Yoe girls owned a 15-14 advantage. Somerville played back with fine ball handling to close the gap.

In the third quarter Somerville took a momentary led over the Yoe girls 22-19.

In the finalstanza the Yoe guards held Somerville scoreless while the Yoe forwads produced a winning 13 points to build the 11 point victory.

Everlyn Pittman spearheaded the scoring with 24 and Georgia Wheeler produced 8 for the cause.

It came down to the wire with the Yoe girls facing a team that they had never played, Stephen F. Austin from Bryan.

In the first quarter the girls were downed 10-1 and came back and took the lead by the end of the quarter 11-10.

By the half the Yoe girls went even up with Austin and in the final quarter the Yoe girls outpaced Bryan 13-5.

Evelyn Pittman again led the scoring for the Yoe girls with 19, followed by Tullullah Green also in double figures with 12. Carole Morris had 5 points followed by Rebecca Riola with 4. Debra Fleming had 2 and Georgia Wheeler had 1.

In the final game the entire fourth quarter everyone on the Yoe bench was unloaded to have a hand in their first tourney.

Tullullah Green and Kim Fritz were both moved up from the junior varsity and according to Coach Linda Puckett, both girls adided greatly in the consolidation victory.

Yoe J V Whips Mustang J V, 61-33

In the other games Friday night the Yoe JV stopped the Manor JV with a decisive 61-33 whipping. In the freshman game Manor took their only victory of the night by downing the Yoe freshmen 53-41.

In the junior varsity game the JV came back in the second quarter after being downed 6-4 at the end of the first quarter.

The Yoe JV exploded with a 24 point quarter while holding Manor to only 7. Curtis Wise worked in 10 points in the second eight minutes

Inthe third quarter the Yoe JV outscored Manor 18-6. In the fourth quarter the Yoemen outpaced Manor 15-14.

From the free throw line the Yoemen hit 15 of 23 attempts and the Manor Mustangs gained 5 points from 13 tries.

The scoring was spearheaded by Curtis Wise with 20 followed by Errol Spells with 15. Also in double figures was Gerry Heitman with 13.

In the freshman contest the Yoe fish had a second quarter slump that they were unable to overcome.

In the first quarter scoring the Yoemen had a one point advantage, 7-6.

Disaster struck the Yoemen in the second period with the Mustangs outscoring the Yoemen 16-2.

In the third quarter the Yoe freshmen came back and held with one of the Mustangs scoring 16-15. The Yoemen closed the gap to two in he final quarter by ouscoring the Mustangs 17-15.

The Yoe freshmen hit 9 of 22 attempts at the free throw line while the Mustangs 5 of 12 attempts.

Edward Johnson led the scoring for the Yoe freshmen with 21. Ronald Cobb followed with 7.

ROGERS. . .

The Rogers Eaglettes played Rosebud-Lott in the Temple Jr. College gym Tuesday night in preparation for both teams upcoming district playoff games.

Rogers is tied for the 28A title with Pflugerville and will face the Pantherettes at 8 p.m. Thursday in Georgetown.

The Rosebud-Lott Cougarettes are tied for the 23AA district crown with Manor. The crown match will be played Thursday nigh in Rockdale.

In an earlier season game between both teams the Eaglettes came out with a 75-47 win.

Next year the Rogers girls will not have to fear the Pflugerville Panthers again since they will move into the district with Rosebud-Lott.

There will be little doubt in Coach Dogget's mind over in Rogers that the district race in 28A will be a little easier after the Pantherettes move into 2A.

INNSBRUCK. . .

Have you heard enough about the Winter Olympics? Every other word in sports is that the Americans have done much better than expected.

There is then a quick defense of the American teams. How young they are, how inexperienced theyare, and the fact that other countries may be sending quasi-professionals.

It's time we quit defending the Americans. If the other countries do send professionals, then we should get out.

It seems that we complain about how well others are doing and then about how impartial the judges are.

Every time of the Olympics we hear the same song, just a different verse. This time it's Innsbruck.

Again we find that some people don't understand the true role of amatuer athketics. In fact, the entire role of any athletics.

PUCKETT SAID. . .

"In our first tournament ever I was extremely proud that the girls were able to bring back a trophy.

"We didn't do a real good job in our first game of the tournament. It seemed like everything went to pieced the fourth quarter against Snook.

"In the tournament we played six minute quarters. In all our previous games we have been playing eight. When we went into the fouth quarter it seemed like the time ran out when we were making our comeback.

"They got a 10 point lead and were able to cut it down to six and we were shooting when the final buzzer sounded.

"We will play in our second tournament that will also be our final games of the season. The tournament will be hosted by Dime Box.

"We should have a good chance and our first game will be against the winner of the Dime Box and Somerville game.

"In the first round we drew a buy and will play our first game on Friday at 7 p.m..

"Our game Monday night against Lexington was a grea one for the junor varsity. It is the first time that they beat Lexington out of three games. The varsity also did a great job."

POOLE SAID. . .

"Against Rosebud-Lott Tuesday night I though our press looked real good.I was pleased on the over all effort.

"In spots we looked better than others.Our defense was also good in spots.

"It seemed like when we got a comfortable lead we would go to sleep.

"I thought that our overall offense attack went real well along with our press we were able to have a good game againstRosebud-Lott.

"Then against Manor in the Friday night game we ha d a pretty good effort. I thought the kids adjusted real well.

"We are capable of playing much better but over all it was a descent effort.

"We have two more games. Tuesday we play Elgin who is 9-3 for the district season. Friday night we will face Hearne."

The Yoe cagers have cinched at least a co-district title. The least they can wind up with this season will be a district play-off with Hearne in the event that the Yoemen lose their final two battles and Hearne wins both theirs.

But let's face it--there is little doubt the Yoe cagers will claim an all out district champsionship for the second year in a row in District 23AA.

"These are the sorghums I'd plant if I farmed in this area."

Jim Higdon

AGRONOMY SERVICE DIRECTOR

"Drouth, disease, insects, wind storms . . . taking everything into account that can plague a crop in this area, these are the sorghums I'd go with."

It's my job to know which are the best varieties for each locale in the states of Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. For the last five years I've had Crop Information Centers, Standard Comparison Tests and Uniform Strip Tests in this immediate area. In these carefully controlled tests, I've evaluated most of the sorghum varieties a farmer might consider planting. I've had the same headaches and frustrations you've had. My plantings have suffered the same weather conditions, epidemics and infestations yours have.

Based on these tests, there is no doubt in my mind what I'd plant in 1976 if I farmed hereabouts.

James Matthew Higdon is a professional agronomist with 16 years of intensive experience in growing hybrid corn and sorghum in the Southwest. His full time responsibility is to consult with farmers about their grains and silage growing problems.

8311

8311 is a champion producer of high test weight, yellow endosperm grain. Pioneer introduced this golden bronze hybrid three years ago and it's been setting yield records in this area ever since. One reason is its ability to yield in the face of too wet or too dry weather, insects or disease. Another reason for the high yields is that 8311 tends to adjust its maturity to the growing season in a particular area. Whatever else you plant . . . put in some 8311.

846

"Old faithful" is the best name for this Pioneer variety. It has been producing profitable sorghum yields for farmers in this area for many, many years. Though medium maturity, it produces with full-season varieties in good years and still does well under stress. It resists drouth, smut, rust, MDMV and tolerates secondary downy mildew infestation. It makes a good planting partner.

Performance of seeds or the crop produced therefrom may be adversely affected by factors beyond our control including environmental conditions, insects and diseases. The limitation of warranty and remedy attached to each bag of Pioneer brand seed is a part of the terms and conditions of the sale thereof.

Letter Due For Veteran Exemption

Those disabled veterans and survivors of servicemen who appear to be eligible for property tax exemptions under a new law recently enacted by the State of Texas, will be furnished a letter verifying service-connected disability data according to Jack Coker, director, VA Regional Office, Waco.

It will not be necessary to write the VA in most cases, since a computerized letter containing the required verification will be mailed by the VA automatically by April 1, or earlier.

The state law authorizing tax exemptions applies to veterans who have service connected disability of ten percent or more and to certain widows and minor children of servicemen who died while on active duty. Also included are certain widows and minor children of veterans who at time of death had a service-connected disability of ten percent or more.

Those desiring to claim the exemption should present a copy of a letter from VA to the appropriate Tax Collector on or before April 30, 1976, verifying service connected disability.

Grain Farmers Unprotected By U.S. Policies, White Says

AUSTIN–In a recent speech, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White warned that American grain producers are unprotected from financial disaster if the Soviet Union backs out of its long-term grain buying agreement with the United States.

Speaking to the Texas Agricultural Aviation Association, White also charged that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has more responsibility for setting farm policies than Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz.

"Our grainmen have been urged to go all-out in production efforts, but with no guidelines and no safety factors to prevent a price disaster," White said. "And there is no guarantee that the Russian marketplace will always be there for our producers."

The Commissioner noted that the Soviet Union has not bought any U.S. grain for more than two months and that the farm price of wheat and corn have dropped sharply.

"This latest grain deal is supposed to be a long-term agreement, calling on Russia to buy at least six million tons of wheat and corn for the next five years," White said.

But White warned that the U.S.S.R. won't be concerned about honoring the terms of the agreement if it comes up with a bumper grain crop in the next five years, and that the federal government's lack of guidelines for wheat production demonstrated that it is not concerned about that possibility.

"We don't need intervention when we have markets for our products.

County Agent's Notes

Signup Now For County Insect Scouting Program

By Bill McCutchen

The Cotton and Grain Sorghum insect scouting program signup deadline is Feb. 20. Bob Glodt, County Extension Entomdogist for Milam and Williamson Counties will head the program and field scouting teams will be trained to check cotton and/or grain sorghum fields for beneficial and harmful insect populations. These counts will be available to the producer and the entomologist for examination and action if necessary.

Entomologist services will not cost the operator, but scouts will be paid by cooperating producers at the rate of $1.60 per acre for dryland cotton and $1.30 per acre for grain sorghum. This will pay wages and transportation costs of the scouts for the season.

Milam County is limited to 4500 acres in the program. This acreage can be cotton, grain sorghum, or a combination of both.

Good interest and participating is expected in both Milam and Williamson counties. Program goals are to increase net profits to producers. Insect levels and damage will be the key to making insecticide applications.

Anyone wishing further information on the program is asked to contact the County Extension Office, Wilburn Beckhusen at Modern Gin in Buckholts, or H. M. Yager at Maysfield prior to Feb. 20.

Gardening Time is Here

February is the month to start planting radishes, lettuce, carrots, potatoes, and sweet corn and to put out onion, cabbage, and broccoli plants.

Many people have signs they use to plant potatoes and so do I. When the San Antonio Stock Show, Feb. 15-20 rolls around, it is my planting time. This works as well for me as the moon sign does for others.

To me the key to potatoe production is ample phosporus fertilizer which I like to put down a few inches below my potatoes. It is alright to put it in the same trench, but don't get nitrogen and potassium in contact with your seed potatoes as damage may result.

Sweet corn plantings should be delayed until the last of February or the first of March to avoid freeze damage.

I have hybrid tomato plants started in my house for transplanting in the garden in mid to late March, and if you are going to start your own, do it soon. If you have nematode problems there are several good nematode resistant varieities. Better Boy is one of the best and is usually availabel locally.

Texas Hog Farrowing Increases

AUSTIN--The number of hogs and pigs on Texas farms and ranches continued to show a decline during December, but a slight increase in farrowing intentions for December 1975-May 1976 is forcast.

Texas hog producers have reported that an estimated 83,000 sows will farrow during the six-month period, a two percent increase from 1974, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

A total of 780,000 head was reported, a 17 percent drop from a year ago and the lowest December estimate since the 702,000 head in 1965, White reported.

The number of hogs and pigs kept for breeding during December is estimated at 122,000, a four percent decline from 1974. Market hogs and pigs totaled 658,000, down 19 percent.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Not Since 1919 . . . They've Done It Again . . . Above Last Year.

A report from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service backs up what Texas sheep producers have been saying all along: numbers of sheep and lambs in the state as well as the nation continue to decline.

For Texas, you have to go back to 1919 -- that's 57 years ago -- to find a year in which sheep numbers are lower than was the case as of Jan. 1.

All sheep and lambs on Texas farms totaled 2,600,000; this is 3 per cent below a year ago and ties the 1919 figure.

The number of sheep operations took an even sharper percentage dip. There are 9,500 sheep operations in the state as of Jan. 1. This is down 14 per cent from a year ago.

The inventory of all goats and kids is also down. The total as of Jan. 1 is 1,050,000. This is 9 per cent below a year ago. Angora goats are down 10 percent from a year ago; as of Jan. 1 the total is 890,000.

Nationwide, it's the same story. The Jan. 1 inventory of all sheep and lambs is 13,300,000 head, a decline of 8 per cent from 1975 and a downturn of 19 per cent from 1974.

Texas' value of all sheep and lambs is estimated at $81,900,000. The average value per head is set at $31.50 compared to $23.50 a year ago.

Nationwide, a value of $37.30 is placed on each head of sheep which compares with $30.40 last year.

WHILE MANY TEXAS FARMERS are still trying to figure out what to do in the way of cropping plans this year, they set new production records in at least three commodities last year.

The 1975 wheat production in Texas set an all-time record of 131,100,000 bushels. This was more than twice the previous year. A new high in soybean production was also attained in 1975. Soybean production last year was 9,065,000 bushels for the state.

Although farmers did not produce a record total corn crop, they did set what is expected to be a new high for Texas in per acre yields of that commodity. A 103-bushel per acre average for the state during 1975 is about 20 bushels per acre higher than the major corn state of Iowa for last year. Total corn production for the state is set at 11,300,000 bushels, which is second in size only to the 1910 crop.

Grain sorghum producers also did well for themselves. Production of that commodity in 1975 was second to the largest crop ever produced in Texas. The 1975 crop amounted to 374,400,000 bushels.

The cotton crop was probably the biggest disappointment. The 1975 crop was 2,400,000 bales, which was the smallest in almost 30 years. Even at that, it was only slightly lower than 1974.

ONE OF THE STATE'S MAJOR specialty crops -- rice -- shows an increase in storage stocks. Rough rice stocks as of Jan. 1 are 22 per cent above a year ago. However, milled rice stocks are 38 per cent below a year ago.

Nationwide, rough rice stocks are 32 per cent above a year earlier and milled rice stocks are 6 per cent above a year ago.

Cattle Outlook Muddled

The cattle industry is out of trouble. Cattlemen can start increasing their herd size and sell at a profit. Right? Wrong!

"The cattle industry still has a way to go before the picture brightens," believes Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Uvacek attributes the false optimisim of many cattlemen to misinformation and misinterpretation of some of the facts. He cites a few examples of this.

"In 1975, about 11. 4 million cows were slaughtered and a lot of people thought the oversupply problem was over. What they didn't realize was that almost 11 million head of replacement heifers were added to the breeding herd."

Another mistaken belief, says Uvacek, is that the feedlot business has completely recovered and feedlots are using all the calves that are produced.

"It's true that feedlot placements have increased substantially, but the number available for feeding is still much higher than the feedlots can handle. In 1975, only 23 million head of cattle out of a total supply of 103 million available head were placed on feed.

"The idea that both beef consumption and retail beef prices were at record highs in 1975 is not completely true either," says the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Retail prices for Choice beef were at record highs in 1975, but because there was so much non-fed cattle slaughtered., the consummtion of Choice beef was down," he explains.

Calf prices will probably go up in 1976 and 1977, says Uvacek, but the cost of inflation will take away any potential profits.

"It costs about $200 a year to keep a cow in Texas,"

"Conveyor Belt" Abortion On Demand In Britain?

By Ann McKane

LONDON

Reuter--The British government has been accused of setting up a conveyor belt system of abortion on demand, after an announcement that will permit quick so-called vacuum method abortions.

The government is to allow certain clinics to use the method, pioneered in the United States, which involves using a tube to suck the embryo from the womb. It can be done under local anaesthetic, and the patient can walk out of the clinic within hours of the operation.

The method is used widely in the U. S. as well as the Netherlands and several Eastern European nations. Proponents of this method contend that other forms of abortion are often useb because they produce more fees for the physician.

But this week's announcement has heightened the controversy already raging in Britain over the current abortion laws.

The Society for the Protection of the Unborn Child, the country's largest anti-abortion pressure group, said the new method would lead to "conveoyr belt abortions."

Another prominent campaigner, Labour member of Parliament James White said, "Parliament never authorized abortion on demand, but this is what the new procedure will provide."

Initially, the government is to allow two abortion charaties to use the new method, which can only be carried out on British residents and before the 12th week of preganancy. Other safegauards are to ensure adequate after-care.

The newmethod has been hailed by abortion charities as a major step to help stamp out private abortion clinics, which have been charging up to $600 for an abortion. The fee under the new system ill be about $120.

Abortions have been legal in Britain since 1967, providing two physicians agree that a woman's phusical and mental health is imparied by carrying out the pregnancy.

The law is not as liberal as some in the U. S. but Britain was the first Western European nation to allow wide-scale legal abortions and therefore atrracted a large number of foreigners.

The anti-abortion lobby contends that the law has led to serious abuses such as hawkers standing at London airport to meet women they believe are seeking an abortion.

Of the 170,000 abortions preformed in Britain in 1974, about 50,000 were on foreign women. In the first nine months of 1975 there were 115,000 abortions, of which about 25,000 were on foreign women.

The figures for foreign women have dropped because of more liberal abortion laws in other parts of Europe, particularly France.

The anti-abortion lobby hopes that the controversy over this week's annuncement will help them in their campaign to get a Parliamentary committee set up to review the abortion law.

Presidential Committees To Convene

Texas GOP Chairman Ray Hutchison today urged Texans to make note that on Sunday, Feb. 15, at 2 p.m., the Delegate Selection Committees of both the President Ford Committee and the Texas Citizens for Reagan Committee will convene throughout the State for the purpose of selecting those individuals who will represent the candidates on the May 1 Republican primary ballot.

"Participation or attendance at these meetings will guarantee that a citizen will have a voice in the selection of one of the 1976 candidates for President of the United States," Hutchison said. "The delegate selection process for the Democratic primary in Texas is a massive exercise in futility since the one-sided primary law under which delegates will be selected is overwhelmingly loaded in favor of Senator Lloyd Bentsen and he doesn't have the faintest chance of being nominated by his own party.

"Only by participation in the Republican delegate selection process and in the Republican primary will Texans have an actual voice in who will be the next President."

Hutchison stressed that participation in these delegate selection committee meetings, as well as the Republican primary and the precinct, county, and state convention is open to all citizens.

Scientists Study Sludge Disposal

Three alternatives to current municipal sewage disposal methods are being developed by scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"Municipal sewage sludge is a serious problem in big cities where there's nowhere to put it," says Dr. Allen R. Swoboda, researcher in soil chemistry.

With soil chemistry graduate associates Elwood Blake and Dennis Landua, Swoboda is attempting to develop a means of disposing of sewage while preventing drainage of toxic chemicals and organisms into underground water supplies.

"We're trying to incorporate treated waste matter into the soil," Swoboda explains. In a year-and-a-half of research in Brazos County, three alternatives to the current sewage sludge disposal methods--ocean dumping, incineration, and burial in land fills--have been investigated.

Sewage slude, as a liquid containing about five percent solids, is being applied to the surface of the soil. A second method is depositing the sludge in plowed furrows about 10 inches deep and 40 inches apart. These techniques can result in some leaching of nitrates through the soil at concenrtations which could be toxic in drinking water (about 45 parts per million).

The third and most promising technique, which results in no significant leaching of toxic chemicals or fecal bacteria, involves burying the sludge in trenches two-and-one-half feet deep.

The Experiment Station researchers found none of the three methods cause leaching of heavy metals or phosphorus through the soil, nor do they inhibit plant growth.

The slude is being applied at a rate of 50 tons of dry sludge per acre, Swoboda explains. A municipal waste treatment plant produces about 75 tons of sewage sludge daily per million people in the city.

Many metropolitan areas do not have sufficient surrounding land for sewage disposal when the conventional rate of 10 tons per acre or less in applied to the land. The methods being investigated would reduce the amount of land required for sludge disposal by as much as five times, according to the researchers.

Students To Compete For DECA

Distributive education students from a 36 county area in Central Texas will be competing Feb. 13-14 in the Area V conference of the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA), Texas Association.

Five students from Yoe High school will be competing in the Area V Competitive Events at Arlington High School, Arlington. The students competing will be Mike Robison, sales demonstration; Cynthia Lowrey, public speaking; Vanessa Wilkerson, job interview; George Schoppe, advertising; and Pam Watkins, display. All students are seniors this year.

Serving as judges for the competitive events will be professionals in marketing and distribution fields in the Dallas Metro-plex area.

Students who place first, second, and third in the area competitive events will compete at the DECA State Leadership Conference, which will be held March 11-13 at the Astroworld Hotel in Houston.

Many people have heard of football teams "going to state" or high school debaters competing at the state level, but they may not hav heard about distributive education students "going to state."

At the DECA State Conference, over 2,000 distributive education students will be competing to determine who has the top vocational skills in the state.

Through competition, students have a chance to compare their skills with their peers in such fields as giving sales demonstrations, designing a newspaper ad, or evaluating store window displays.

The Brazos County Kiwanis Club will again serve as the official judges of the displays. The club will also award placques to the members who have prepared the top exhibits.

The FFA Greenhand members and their Adivosr Mike Guthrie, extend a special invitation to the general public in Bryan and College Station and the surrounding area and especially the kindergarten, special education, and elementary school students to come and visit the Barnyard.

When the Spaniards first came upon the tomato in South America they called it a "love apple."

Buckholts Sets Park Workday

Since the city of Buckholts has incorporated, Buckholts residents have a city park. Many people have donated their time to work in clearing this park area and to get it completed.

Forrest Green, a local nursery man, is drawing up a master plan for this park. If you have flowers that can be transplatend, also grass to sod, please bring these Saturday morning at 9 a.m., Feb. 14, along with your working tools.

This will be one of the many steps toward beautification of Buckholts for our bicentennial celebration and for the future.

If you could help in any way please call Mrs. Steve Burtis.

Glassware Utensils Usual Sight In Modern Kitchen

What's the cooking world coming to? Cooking in glass, Mrs. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist says.

"Cooking utensils made of white glass-ceramic substance are desiged for use in the over, under the broiler, and on top of the range--and are pretty enough to go to the table for serving," she noted.

She explained that foods bake faster in glass ovenware than in shiny metal pans because the glass holds the heat instead of reflecting it.

"When baking in glass, reduce the oven temperature at least 25 degrees unless the recipe states that temperature has been written for glass."

Also, glass cookware has no carry-over of food flavors or odors, no discoloration, and is easy to keep clean because its surface is smooth and nonporous. It doesn't rust or pit from foods.

"Spot cooling weakens the glass and increases the chance of breakage. To avoid this cool hot dishes before adding liquids, handle a hot dish with a dry cloth, and do not set a hot dish on a wet or cold surface," the Texas A&M University System specialist said.

Glassware is easy to keep clean if it's greased well before having food put into it. If the dish is quite full, the top edges and handles also should be greased before putting into the oven.

"To remove baked-on food, soak the dish in water to which detergent has been added, or in a solution of three tablespoons of baking soda to one quart of water, then wash as usual," she suggested.

In 1836, Texans wanted more than tacos from Mexico. They wanted their independence.

And they got it.

But once a republic, the next step was statehood. So the American government issued a five percent stock to help pay for the annexation. And the citizens welcomed their new neighbors by quickly buying up the stock.

Today, Americans still help their country grow by buying United States Savings Bonds—at banks and through the Payroll Savings Plan at work.

And while they help their country, they help themselves to safe, dependable savings.

Take stock in America with United States Savings Bonds.

You just can't buy a better country.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years 4 mo's; the first year. Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.
